To: Rhode Island Licensed Physician Assistants

From: Rhode Island Board of Medical Licensure and Discipline

Effective July 8, 2009 The Rhode Island Board of Medical Licensure and Discipline no longer provides written verification of licensee status. The Department maintains our licensee look up system for the purpose of verification of a physician assistant's licensure status. This system is updated directly <https://healthri.mylicense.com/verification/> . If written verification is required, then you are referred to Veridoc at www.Veridoc.org.

Please note this does not represent a new or even recent change in Board policy and practice. We continued to provide some written verification over the last year to facilitate this transition but due to staffing constraints can no longer accommodate such requests.
